DYVEKES SANGE

NR.1

Lyrics by Holger Drachmann

SKAL ALTID FÆSTE MIT HÅR UNDER HUE

I Bergen

Skal altid fæste mit Haar under Hue,
tør aldrig binde en Sløjfe deri;
ilde lugter den Kræmmerstue - hvem der som Fuglen var fri!
Min Moder var dog en stadselig Frue;
Kom, lille Speil, lad mig se.
De kaldte ved Daaben mig "Due",
hun flyver helst i det Fri.
De Klokker ringe til Ottesang<sup>1</sup>,
nu bliver Dyvekes Dag saa lang;
og vil jeg af Byen med Moder gaae,
der spærre de Bjerge saa isengraae.

Men ude i Haven staar Urter og Blommer,
dèr drømmer mit Hjerte blandt Zwibler og Løg;
krydret dufter den liflige Sommer,
og Hjertet slaaer som en Gøg.
Det slaaer mod min Haand, under Huden det
det varsler saa langt, saa langt mig et Liv.
Vær hilset, du Fugl, mellem Urter og Blommer,
vær hilset, vær hilset du kukkende Gøg!

THE SONGS OF DYVEKE

NO.1

English translation by Eva Hess Thaysen

MUST ALWAYS FASTEN MY HAIR BENEATH THE CAP

In Bergen

Must always fasten my hair beneath the cap,
dare never tie a ribbon in it;
foul smells the grocery shop
if only I were free as the bird!
My mother was a fine lady
come, little mirror, let me see.
They named me “Dove” at the christening,
she flies rather in the open.
The bells ring to mass,
now Dyveke’s day will be so long;
and if I want to walk away from the town with my
the ice grey mountains will block our way.

But outside in the garden herbs and flowers are
there my heart dreams among onions and bulbs.
The joyous summer smells spicy
and the heart beats like a cuckoo.
It beats against my hand and drums under my
it predicts such a long, long life for me.
Welcome, you bird, among herbs and flowers,
welcome, welcome you cuckooing cuckoo!
